Update on Piera Baldwin

Piera came to Asyma in 2007 as office administrator and marketing coordinator. She is often referred to as "the office mom". She makes sure that the office is running at peak performance; that also means keeping the kitchen stocked with goodies. She says "it is easier that way, everyone is happier when the kitchen is stocked!" Recently Piera has shifted roles and is strictly the Office Administrator taking care of the Accounts Payable and Receivable. She has decided to work limited hours to have more time to spend with her family and do things that she loves to do.

Born in Italy, Piera loves to cook Italian and the kitchen is the heart of her home. She comments that it is hard to cook for just herself and her husband so she loves it when the kids come home for a visit as she gets to cook (and they REALLY appreciate it)! This Spring, Piera had the opportunity to revisit her home country and the village of Penne S. Andrea, where she was born. Having kept up with her Italian, she was able to ask a couple on the street if they knew if her family; as luck would have it, they were the postmaster and postmistress of that community. Along with their help, she was able to find the exact location of her birth, as well as a couple who had never left and actually knew her family and remembered her as a child. What an amazing experience!

All summer and well into the fall, you may cross paths with her on those great sunny weekends when she and her husband get on their motor bike and ride to no particular destination near and far. It is such a sense of freedom without a care in the world! Her pride and joy are her 3 grand children (although she often says that she is too young to be a Grandma). Piera always tells her grandchildren "you have the coolest Gramma around, not only does she bake the best cookies ever; she rides a motor bike!" They totally love that!
